NACSA advises everyone to take the following actions:

1. Do not open or forward any suspicious files/documents forwarded from text messaging service or email especially regarding the list of Malaysia's "New Cabinets";
2. Always verify any information received from emails, text messages and social media posts regarding COVID-19 and WHO;
3. Verify with the sender of any link included within an email before clicking;
4. Do not open any suspicious links or emails especially claiming to be from WHO;
5. Do not send any money or donation to any bank account associate with the scam;
6. Do not visit any untrusted websites;
7. Do not simply enter personal information such as email address or password whenever you are requested to do so;
8. Change your password if you think it has been compromised;
9. Update your mobile and computer operating system and applications regularly;
10. Apply latest patches for your system and application to protect from being exploited;
11. Monitor your organisation's network activities and block any malicious IP attempting to exploit your server and network;
12. If you suspect that you have been a victim of scam, please contact law enforcement agency; and
13. Report to NACSA if you're server has been breached or defaced.
